

College of Environment and Design Diversity and Inclusive Excellence Plan November 2022

CED Working Vision of Diversity, Equity, and Inclusion

As the UGA College of Environment and Design, we commit to the values of diversity, equity and inclusion in our environmental curation and community-building. Together, we strive to create a nurturing, supportive environment for all.

Premise of the CED DEI Plan

Moving beyond simply efforts to promote individual commitment to diversity, equity and inclusion, the intent of the CED DEI Plan is to promote a diverse and inclusive community, leading to a CED culture of diversity and inclusion, enhanced by a spirit of openness in communication, transparency in decision-making processes, and voluntary engagement from each member of the community to care. By creating a more diverse and inclusive culture and community, collectively we will better fulfill our mission of learning, discovery, and service.

The intent is for this plan to be a living document, meaning content should be added and removed as the CED community learns more as it interacts on a variety of discussions around inclusion. A curated collection of definitions is included as an appendix. Additional information on and insights into the plan's development, including the results of CED DEI Committee Survey on University D & I Priority Areas, is available as "Working Document – CED DEI Plan" on the CED Intranet.

UGA Operational Definitions

Diversity- Individual differences (e.g., personality, prior knowledge, and life experiences) and group/social differences (e.g., race/ethnicity, class, gender, sexual orientation, country of origin, and ability as well as cultural, political, religious, or other affiliations) (<https://www.aacu.org/making-excellence-inclusive>)

Inclusive Excellence- Concept recognizing that in order for institutions to meet their academic excellence goals, they must create an engaged community that is more diverse and inclusive of individuals from a variety of backgrounds, experiences, communities, and identities. “Likewise, diversity and inclusion efforts move beyond numbers of students or numbers of programs as end goals. Instead, they are multilayered processes through which we achieve excellence in learning; research and teaching; student development; local and global community engagement; workforce development; and more.” (Toward a Model of Inclusive Excellence and Change in Postsecondary Institutions, Damon A. Williams, Joseph B. Berger, and Shederick A. McClendon)

Underrepresented and underserved students-- Students from groups who have been traditionally underrepresented and underserved in higher education, this would include (but is not limited to) racial/ ethnic minorities, first-generation college students, students with disabilities, and students from lower socio-economic households. Underrepresented and underserved typically means that as a group, the percentage of the population of that group within a specific context is lower than their percentage of the population in the state, region or country.

Underserved communities/ Underserved areas: Populations (or areas) that face barriers and challenges accessing and using resources, due to geographic location, religion, sexual orientation, gender, racial, and ethnic identifications.
