MARCH 6th, 2020 B.L.A. Shorty: IMPORTANT CE+D STUFF: Please read all these announcements!

The Owens Library and Circle Gallery will be open during spring break Monday, March 9 through Wednesday, March 11, 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Closed Thursday and Friday. Have a nice break!

Melissa Tufts – Director, Owens Library and Circle Gallery

If you THINK you are scheduled to graduate in May 2020, or August 2020, you must apply for graduation! Please do so in Athena! If you wish to participate in the formal UGA Commencement Ceremony on Friday, May 9th, 2020 - this is allowed & encouraged for both May & August graduates. However, if you are taking classes this Fall, 2020, you may not walk in May – you will be allowed to walk in December. Please see post for CE+D Convocation on May 7th at UGA Fine Arts.

NAMI (National Alliance on Mental Illnesses) on Campus is a student organization that focuses on raising awareness for mental health and reducing its stigma. Not only do we provide resources related to mental health, but we also have support groups with trained facilitators and Ending the Silence presentations that allow presenters to inform and even share a personal story related to mental health. We offer training for students wanting to be support group facilitators and Ending the Silence presenters, which are great leadership opportunities for resumes and graduate school applications. We are also working on creating trainings for mental health first aid, which is first aid for situations or crises related to mental health. Additionally, our exec board applications are currently open, and if interested or have any questions, please email us at namioncampusuga@gmail.com.

Students: please be aware of the requirement for the travel registry if your Spring Break includes overseas travel. Click Here: International Travel Registry

EXCITING (TEMPORARY) JOB OPPORTUNITY (from Prof. Davis)

CED is seeking student staff positions for its first-ever summer design camp to be held June 7-13, 2020. The Pre-Collegiate Summer Design Camp will be an immersive, collaborative, and transformative one-week residential experience for high-achieving high school students from diverse backgrounds. For more information about the design camp, please visit: https://ced.uga.edu/designcamp/

About the Position:
Student staff will be responsible for guiding and ensuring the safety of 15-20 high school students as they engage in camp activities. Camp workshops will be led by CED faculty members, but student staff will be responsible for assisting with the execution of workshops and providing leadership, guidance, and support to campers throughout the duration of the camp, including evening activities. During the Pre-Collegiate Summer Design Camp week, the role of student staff requires dedication, high energy, and exemplary support for students. The week is a long but rewarding experience and will provide a unique opportunity to have a positive impact on high school students with an interest in design while also developing leadership, communication, & teamwork skills.

Requirements/Qualifications
The position is available to all UGA CED students in good-standing including undergraduate or graduate students. A strong candidate will be positive, proactive, responsible and organized, with a passion for the field(s) of landscape architecture, historic preservation, urban planning, and/or environmental design. They should have a focus on giving campers a fun, educational, and safe camp experience. Student staff are expected to stay in campus housing with the campers throughout the duration of the camp. Meals will be provided by UGA Dining Services, and staff are expected to dine alongside campers in the dining halls. Staff will be required to attend three to four meetings in April/May for planning and training purposes. One of these meetings may include a group training session on working with minors. Additional topics will include final planning of camp activities to seek your input as current BLA/MLA students, and thorough review of the schedule and expectations of camp staff.

Compensation: $500 stipend + housing/meals for the week

Application Process:
To apply, fill out the online application by March 27, 2020 at www.tinyurl.com/designcampstaffapp
The application will ask that you list one CED faculty member as reference.

The review committee may request an interview with staff candidates before final decisions are made. If you have any questions regarding the position or application process, please email designcamp@uga.edu.
