Findings

The Center for Community Design and Preservation (CCDP) located within the University of Georgia’s College of Environment + Design (CED) conducted a Phase I historic resource survey of Bacon County, Georgia in July 2016. The project area covered 286 square miles within the county limits. Bacon county is located in Southeast Georgia, and is bordered by Jeff Davis and Appling Counties to the north, Pierce and Ware Counties to the south and southeast, and Coffee County to the west. The resource survey was performed by historic graduate students in the Masters of Historic Preservation (MHP) program at the CED. The survey consisted of windshield and pedestrian field work, data collection and analysis. All information collected was entered into Georgia’s Natural, Archaeological, and Hisotric Resources Geographic Information System (GNARHGIS) which is the repository for all the current statewide historic resources survey data. The ID number for this survey is 2337.

Summary

A total of 91 resources were documented that meet and maintain a minimum level of age, integrity, and significance; seven appear to meet the criteria for eligibility for the National Register of Historic Places. Three most represented decades were 1960-69 (19.8%), 1900-1909 (15.4%), and 1920-1929 (13.2%). Of the built resources, the two most reresented house types are the Ranch House (33%) and the front gable bungalow (12%). Overwhelmingly, the resources identified did not exhibit any architectural style (61.5%). This is representative of many unincorporated areas which tend to have more buildings of the vernacular style than anything else.
